FAQs / Examples/Scenarios for guidance

Annual Leave

How many days of leave can I take in a year?

You earn 1.75 days of leave every month or 21 days in a year. You can take all 21 days based on your supervisor's approval and the needs of the business. If you are on probation, you are eligible to accrue 1.75 days of leave every month (accrual happens on daily basis). Annual leaves are accrued on pro-rata basis.

Can I cancel an Annual Leave request?

If your leave request is pending your manager's approval, then you can cancel it yourself. But, if your request has been approved by your manager, or the leave date has already passed, same can be cancelled within 30 days.

What happens to my leave accumulated towards the end of the year?

After adjusting all your Annual Leaves and negative leaves, the total number of outstanding leaves is calculated towards the end of the year. 61.9% of the total leave earned in the current year needs to be used or it will lapse on January 31 of the following year. The remaining 38.09% of leaves can be carried forward and added to the next year's opening balance.

Encashment of annual leaves

- Annual leave encashment is calculated based on the last drawn wages of employees:
Formula for leave encashment: (Last drawn monthly wages * No of leave balance)/30
*Wages refers to part of your CTC defined as wages as per Indian labour code
- Leave encashment computations can be accessed at The Dot > myFinancials > Financial Statement > Leave Encashment
- The differential amount of the above will be taxed based on Income Tax laws.

I am on notice period. How does this impact my leave encashment?

As per the current leave rules, the maximum encashment will be 45 days of leaves for all states except Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, and Gujarat. Leave accumulation in these states will be 60, 60 and 63, respectively. However, for employees with an opening leave balance greater than 45 days encashment, leaves will be equal to the lower of either the opening balance of the year or the leave balance as of the last date.

Yes. If the Wipro India leave policy is applicable to you, then this applies to you, as well. Please speak to your HR team if there is a specific obligation.

What happens to my offshore leave balance when I go on long-term onsite?

If you travel in the year, then 61.9% of the current year accrued leaves should have been taken or the same gets lapsed, and the remaining 38.09% of accrued leaves will be carried forward along with the opening balance.

For instance, if you travel on long-term onsite on June 30, you would have accrued 10.5 days of leave for the year. You need to use a minimum of 61.9% of the leaves accrued in the current year (six days) and the remaining 38.09% (4.5 days) will be carried forward to the next year's opening balance that will be available upon your return offshore.

In case I exhaust my Annual Leaves, can I get advance leaves? Yes. You will be eligible for an Advance Annual Leave of up to 5 days, subject to your manager's approval.
